WITH LARGE FARE.

Sch. Fannie A. Smith Home from Cape North Grounds.

Sch. Fannie A. Smith is known as one of the Georges halibuting fleet, but this time she went way down to the Cape North grounds, and this morning is home with a big fare, having 20,000 pounds of halibut, 30,000 pounds of salt cod and 35,000 pounds of fresh cod.

The Smith went out this time in charge of a new commander, Capt. Fred. Thompson, because her regular commander, Capt. Oscar Benson, who had been landed sick at Martha's Vineyard and taken to the hospital, had not yet recovered. Instead of going to Georges, Capt. Thompson decided to try the Cape North deal and certainly profited thereby, as he secured a big fare in a short time and has made a name for himself at the start.

On this fine trip the splendid stock of $4697.73 was made, the crew making a great share, $109 to a man.

Capt. McKay has been doing things up in great shape in the halibut line since he started in Capt. Jerome McDonald's vessels last fall, and all his many friends are hoping that he will keep up the fast gait he has struck and which he knew so well how to keep in days gone by. This is the second time since January came in that Capt. McKay's crew have shared over $100 on a halibut trip.

Sch. Preceptor, Capt. Forman Spinney, stocked $1855 on her recent halibut trip.

Sch. Francis P. Mesquita, Capt. Joseph P. Mesquita, stocked $2537 as the result of her big shack trip, the crew sharing $77. Capt. June 14.

A letter from Capt. Archibald Devine of sch. Arthur James, dated at Halifax Monday, states that the vessels on the Cape Shore have seen or taken no mackerel as yet and that he was going to hang there three or four days more, and if nothing showed in that time he was going to go to the southward.

Capt. Horace Wilde of sch. Dictator, which arrived last evening, reports passing a few school of fish to the westward of Halifax, a few nights ago, which he took to be mackerel.

A special to the Times from Newport, R. I., reports the arrival there this morning of sch. Talisman, Capt. Nelson Fisher, with 80 barrels of large fresh mackerel; sch. Estelle S. Nuan, Capt. Roy Kimball, with 70 barrels of large fresh mackerel, and sch. Eddie Minot with 35 barrels of large fresh mackerel.

Newport sent up 242 barrels of fresh mackerel to Boston yesterday.

Over 200 barrels of large fresh mackerel came to Boston this morning on the steamer from Yarmouth, N. S., being taken in the traps in that vicinity. They sold at 18 cents each.

Fishing Fleet Movements.

Sch. Harvard was at Liverpool, N. S., on Monday.

June 14.

BIG TRIPS.

Two Fine Ones at This Port This Morning.

The largest Rips trip of the season was brought to this port this morning by sch. Mina Swim, Capt. John Swim. The skipper hauls for 60,000 pounds and has them all right.

Sch. Alice M. Guthrie, Capt. Martin Guthrie, arrived from a haking expedition to the Maine coast this morning with a big fare of 150,000 pounds of fresh fish, 125,000 pounds of which are hake. The vessel is practically full and looked as deep as a sand barge when she came in.

STRAY FRENCH TRAWLERS.

Picked Up by Sch. Onato and Landed at Liverpool, N. S.

Sch. Onato, Capt. J. Henry Larkin, one of the Cape North fleet, put into Liverpool, N. S., yesterday, on the way home to land two French fishermen, Lemaurie August and Rucker Jeun, of the French fishing bark Fauvette of St. Severn, whom they picked up a few days ago, astray from the vessel. The men had been several days in their dory and suffered considerably.

June 14.

CAPLIN ARE EARLY.

Few Were Seen Saturday in Trap at St. Pierre, Miq.

A letter to the Times from Edward Sire & Co. of St. Pierre, Miquelon, dated June 7, states that they set their squid and herring traps for the season two days previously and on the following day found three big salmon in one of them, beside a few herring and caplin. For this latter circumstance they are led to believe that caplin will soon come to the land, which will be fine for the bankers.

OVER $10,000.

Sch. Saladin Had a Splendid Season Out South

Crew Come in for Share of $204.54 for Their Work.

The gasoline auxiliary sch. Saladin, Capt. Flar McKown, which arrived home from her south seining trip yesterday, has had a very successful season, making the splendid stock of $10,327.37, on which the crew received the fine share of $204.54, which is indeed a fine spring's work and in keeping with Capt. McKown's reputation as a mackerel catcher.

Capt. McKown's out south stock of about five years ago, which was in the neighborhood of $12,000, has never yet been equalled.

HIT THEM HARD AGAIN.

Mackerel Fleet Landed Several More Fine Fares.

SEVEN WENT TO NEWPORT.

One Marketed at New York and Another Expected There

The seiners, or eight of them at least, had a mackerel catching carnival off to the southward yesterday and as a result, one streaked away for New York last night, while five more made market at Newport, and two more who were in the fleet and known to have taken fish are expected at the latter port some time today.

The crafts which made Newport last evening and their fares are as follows:

Sch. Pontiac, Capt. Enos Nickerson, 151 barrels large fresh mackerel.

Sch. Nourmahal, Capt. Jerry Cook, 108 barrels large fresh mackerel.

Sch. Thomas J. Carroll, 150 barrel large fresh mackerel.

Sch. Effie M. Prior, 103 barrels large fresh mackerel.

Sch. Constellation, 95 barrels large fresh mackerel.

These vessels, together with schs. Mary E. Harty and J. W. Bradley and Mooween were on fish together and all got hauls. The Mooween took about 200 barrels and kept off for market, and as she did not reach Newport, it is thought that Capt. Graham has gone to New York to market his big fare. The Harty and Bradley are expected at Newport today.

The arrival of these craft is mighty cheering news as it causes a belief that the fleet are now on a good body of large fish from Block Island along the back shore of Long Island and gives rise to the hope that other catches will be heard from in a few days.

The netting sch. Seud of this port is at Boston this morning with 650 large fresh mackerel, taken in her nets. This is the first netting fare at Boston this season, the fish selling at 15 cents each.

A special to the Times this forenoon reports the arrival at New York of sch. Romance, Capt. William Corkum, with 12,000 large fresh mackerel which were taken south-southeast of Montauk Point just at dusk last night. Capt. Corkum reports that there were 15 vessels in the fleet and that several took fish at the same time.

The Times' New York representative reports sch. Mooween bound there with a good trip.

The vessels at Newport last night report that sch. Gossip also got a haul when they did.

A special to the Times this noon reports the arrival of two more crafts at Newport with mackerel fares, sch. Natalie B. Nickerson, Capt. John S. Seavey, with 11,000 large fresh mackerel, and sch. Victor, Capt. John McFarland, with 8000 large fresh mackerel.

The despatch further says that it is a flat calm out there today and that several of the sailing vessels are outside with 50 or 60 barrels of large fish each, but have not wind enough to get in. It is so calm that only the gasoliners made port.

The despatch adds that the prospect out there now is "pretty good."

SUNK BY ICE.

Entire Fishing Crew Rescued by a French Banker.

The French fishing sch. Fauvette, which arrived at North Sydney, C. B., a few days ago, had on board 16 of the crew of the sch. Lorraine which was sunk by the ice off Scatterie on May 26. The Lorraine went down so suddenly that the men had only time to secure a few of their personal effects, and take to the dories, in which they rowed about for eight hours when picked up by the Fauvette. Four of them were later transferred to another vessel.

June 14.

Had Big Fare.

Sch. Raymah, Capt. Felix Hogan, weighed off 184,600 pounds of fresh cod as the result of her recent Cape North shack trip.

BIG FISH TRUST NOW A REALITY

Much Talked of T Wharf Move Has Come at Last.

CAPITAL STOCK $3,000,000.

Concern Will Probably Not Enter Salt Fish Field.

Boston, or rather T wharf, has a $3,000,000 fish combine. The new concern, which has been talked of for so many months and been fruitful of so many columns of public print, is known as the Massachusetts Fish Company, and is a Maine corporation.

Those in the fold claim they will control 75 per cent, of the business of T wharf, while those who are outside the breast work laugh at the assertion and say 10 per cent. will be nearer to it.

There will be about 50 stockholders and the object of the organization is declared to be the securing of economies in the transaction of business. The officers say it is no trust, but will make a more uniform price for fish. It is strenuously claimed that there is no connection with any Gloucester concerns and never will be, but that as far as possible the new company will try to do away with all possible competition between the two places.

Thus far, the organization has simply been perfected and no plans for the future have been matured. Many of the T wharf dealers who have gone in will accept stock of the company in payment for their business. To enable it to do business in Massachusetts as a foreign corporation, the company yesterday filed at the state house with the commissioner of corporations its financial statement, a copy of its bylaws, a copy of its charter and the document appointing the commissioner of corporations attorney to accept service in behalf of the company.

The statement filed, setting forth the objects of the company, which is the transaction of a general fish business, gives Carlton M. Prankard of Port Washington, N. Y., as president, Edward A. Rich of T wharf, Boston, as treasurer, and Maurice P. Shaw of T wharf, Boston, as secretary. The directors are John R. Neal, Albert E. Watts, Orson M. Arnold, N. M. Stott, George M. Ingalls, Frank Harvey Field, Edward M. Dixon and Ira M. Smith.

The capital of the company, all issued, is $3,000,000, one-half preferred and one-half common. This capital has been issued against various items as follows: $3500 against 15,970 square feet of land in East Boston, $25,000 against "fixtures," $100,000 against "leases" and $1,371,500 against "good will."

The papers had to be filed before the company could do business in this state.

In addition to the five firms represented in the board of directors, the following other Boston fish firms are reported to be taken over by the new corporation: B. F. Phillips & Co., Lombard & Curt's, Haskins Fish Co., Ocean Fish Co., J. Adams & Co., C. J. Whitman & Co., I. D. Goodspeed & Co., Baker, Boies & Watson.

Lawyer Curtis G. Metzler of the Tremont building, attorney for the corporation, issued a statement yesterday saying that the corporation was not a trust, that it would be a great benefit to the fishermen, that the quality of fish would be improved for the consumer and that the "price will be less because of avoiding competition."

According to the certificate of organization, which was filed at the state house with the other papers relating to the company, an agreement was drawn up and signed at Portland, Me., June 5, at which time action was taken outlining the purpose of the company as follows:

"To carry on the business of buying, selling, acquiring, holding, storing, catching, taking, propagating, breeding, raising, packing, canning, freezing, preserving, and dealing in fish of every kind and description, including clams, oysters and lobsters; to manufacture, erect, construct, produce and maintain and, either as principals or agents, to trade, deal in and deal with any article belonging to, or which is or may be, useful and convenient in any such business; to construct and operate vessels acquire, maintain and operate lands; to carry on the business of ice maker, ice manufacturing, ice importers; and to deal in cars, locomotives and station."
